Romance Begun During Civil War Ends in a Marriage.

Chicago, March 30.—Letters written by a tender-hearted invalid girl dur-ing the Civil war to cheer the heart of a wounded soldier she had never seen form the foundation of a romance which has found its culmination after many years.

The girls in the town decided to do something to help in the war and it was finally arranged that each should select the name of a wounded soldier, write to him and encourage him in the struggle. A lot was drawn and the girl drew the name of Capt, French, who was at the time suffering from a wound in a southern hospital.

At the close of the war the two lost track of one another and both married.

Capt. French and his wife moved to Denver and the girl whom he had grown to think of as a sister became Mrs. Guna and a resident of Austin.

Prevailed upon to recount some of his experiences in the war, the veteran told of the unique correspondence with the girl he had never seen. He was astonished to learn that the writer of the letters was a widow and lived only a few blocks away.

Capt. French decided upon an immediate call at the home of his war time "sister." The friendship which long had hin dormant ripened into love and a wedding was arranged.

TARIFF SCHEDULES DO NOT HURT WEST

Senator George Sutherland Dis- Formally Taken Possession of by Representative McCall Believes it Makes Offer to Officers of Militia cusses Provisions on Sugar, Lead, Hides and Wool.

Is Interested in Court Action and May Confer With Politicians Over U. S. Marshalship.

"I do not believe that the people of the west need have any fear that the proposed tairff legislation will be luimical to their interesets," said Senator George Sutherland today. "While the Payne bill, now before the house for onsideration, has a number of proposed changes on four articles of major import to Utah, namely, sugar, lead, wool and hides, I believe that the action of the senate will leave each of them practically at the schedule now obtain-such as there was some time ago, it would not seem a wise move to reduce the tariff. It would be better to retain the present schedule on sugar and omit the proposed tax on tea,

"On the finer grades of wool the rate has been lessened, while on the coarser product the tariff has been rated. This state of affairs is all right for the west, but had the reverse been the case it would have been more or less detrimental to this locality.

PIG LEAD ONLY.

PIG LEAD ONLY.

"The reduction on lead affects pig lead only and that only slightly. The old rate will doubtless be restored in the senate, and the proposed free Import of hides will not be sanctioned by the senate, I think, even if the house votes to admit the article free.

"The west has never before received the recognition in Congress that it has recently gained, and western men will have much to say on legislation for the nation. The committee on committee of the senate, which practically effects the organization of the upper branch of Congress, consisted of himmethers, five of whom were from states west of the Missouri river. To that fact is due the representation that the west received on the important committees recently reorganized. The five Transmissouri men on the committee on committees were from Montana, Idaho, Utah, North Dakota and California. On the finance committee are Senators Smoot of Utah and Flint of California, while Senators Borah of Idaho, Piles of Washington and myself are members of the judiciary committee.

EFFECT OF PENAL CODE. "A law recently passed by Congress and one which the general public seemand one which the general public seemingly has failed to see the importance of, is the penal code bill, which becomes effective January next. This measure is of special interest to states where prohibition or local option laws are in effect. In its provisions the fictitious shipment of liquor to forbidden territory is prohibited. It will no longer be possible for express companies to ship to themselves consignments of liquor, to be called for by John Doe. Neither will common carriers be permitted to act as collection agencies for wet goods collection agencies for wet goods shipped C. O. D. Again all shipments shipped C. O. D. Again all shipments sourt be properly stamped and labeled, doing away with the custom of sending intoxicants as "mineral water," or under some other ficticious name."

Senator Sutherland arrived in Salt Lake last night, coming directly from Washington. He expects to be here about 19 days, the principal matter calling for his home coming being an important law suit in the local courts in which he is interested as counsel. The senator expresses himself as being in the best of health, though somewhat fatigued from the long journey. He is extremely busy today, receiving callers, and will doubtless have a few spare moments during his short visit here. It is likely that he will also participate in a conference at which will be considered the appointment of a United States marshal for Utali, vice William Spry elected governor at the last election. Lucian Smyth now occupies the position under appointment of the United States court.

DRUNK AND CRAZY.

Foreigner Clubbed Into Submission by Patrolman Pitts at Livery Stable.

A foreigner named J. W. Hintso, drunk and crazy, but more insane than intoxicated, created considerable excitement at Farrington's livery stable shortly before-fil o'clock this morning. The man entered the stable and started a rough-house, threatening to kill anyone who interferred with him and otherwise making a nuisance of himself.

Patrolman Pitts was summoned by the disturbance and when he entered the stable. Hintso tried to throw the officer down and take his club. Hintso backed away and made a motion as if to draw a revolver. Pitts quickly sprang upon the man and dealt him a terrific blow on the left ear. Hintso went down for the count and when loaded into the patrol wagon was as meek and docide as a lamb. He was charged with drunkenness. A foreigner named J. W. Hintso, drunk

GREATEST JETTIES

IN ALL THE WORLD

New York, March 30.—In the near future work will begin on the greatest jettles in the world. They will be constructed at Sandy Hook to check the inroads of the sea which threaten ultimately to sweep the narrow peninsular away. Recent surveys have shown that Sandy Hook is being washed away at an alarming rate, each storm carrying tons and tons of earth and sand into the ocean. The beach line in some places has receded 300 feet or more.

Plans are now completed and Congress having provided $30,000 to start the work, the government will soon ask for bids to construct wooden jettles 3,800 feet in length. Nineteen in all will be constructed. One of the greatest troubles that confronts the engineers is that of protecting the big ship targets on the proving grounds. It has already been necessary to move some of the targets to another part of the peninsula, but with the present plans it is hoped to relieve the situation.

"I am rather of the opinion." continued Adjt. Gen. Canton, "that some wild newspaper writer has worked off a small sized riot as an Indian war or race war. The only element of danger lies in the fact that sensational writers have caused the excitement and some one may have to do something to keep up the show. It is unfortunate that the affair was so greatly anguified. From reports there have been but two killed since the trouble began and those officers who seem to have had extremely poor judgment. The reports sent out at first to the effect that officers had killed three was without foundation unless the writers confine themselves to fact it is possible they will be requested the leave of the country."

Most of them are half-breeds and 'Mexican greasers,' as we term them out west. Some of them are half African and half Mexican. They get up in arms in the guise of Indians, and when they are subdued they try to play on the sympathy of the United States government. And the real good, peaceful American Indians gets the blame of it all. Most of the trouble among the American Indians today has been caused by these outlaws. We feel that the United States government should rid us of these manuaders and begin it by punishing them to the full extent of the law."

BURGLARS LOOT JEWELRY STORE

J. S. Jensen and Chamberlain Music Company Suffer Considerable Losses.

HEIRLOOMS IN THE PLUNDER.

Element of Luck Plays Part in Vists Of Thieves-Dr. Dart's Valued Violin Barely Escapes.

Trensured heirlooms, valuable jewels ry and musical instruments were among the plunder seenred last night by robbers who crawled through a back window and into the stores of J. S. Jensen and the Chamberlain Music company. The thieves were evidently amateurs or young boys, for the hole n the window would hardly admit a nan. The value of the goods taken will amount to over $200 to the jewelers, aside from the value placed on bits of family trinkers left for repairs. The musical instruments are worth more than $150.

The element of luck also figured in the robbery. A genuine Batiste violin, the property of Dr. J. M. Dart and valed at $2,000, had been on exhibition n the music salesrooms for several days. It was much admired by musiclans and was taken away by Dr. Dart only yesterday. It was kept on top of showcase and could easily have been taken by the robbers if it had been left there last night. Mr. Chamberlain is of the opinion that this violin was the magnet which altracted the robbers, as its presence in the store was quite well known and its value was appar-ent to the oberver.

PRIZED HEIRLOM STOLEN.

Misfortune fell heavily upon one customer. An aged woman whose name is not given out called yesterday with a brooch and earings to match. The trinkets are highly prized by the owner, not for their intrinsic value, but because of the association with other days. The jewelry was to be made into a necklace. It consisted of coral, pearls and turquoises set in gold mountings of the old style. It was among the plunder taken.

The robbers entered through a back window which was reached by climbing to the top of a low shed in the rear of the premises. They left the building through the rear door and the fall of snow covered their tracks. In dropping from the window the men fell upon a showcase, breaking the glass. A match wease, breaking the glass. A match pped by the men in entering burned oth covering, and that there was not a fire as well as a robbery is almost a miracle. From the repair bench six jobs were taken from the small envelopes containing them. Among the lot was a solid gold watch chain, brooches, rings and other smaller articles, valued more highly by the owners than the market price would amount to. So far as known no cash was secured.

Vick Jensen, employed in the store, was at work during last evening. While he was at the grindstone with his ears filled with cotton to denden the noise, he heard a crash resembling breaking glass. Such occurrences have happened frequently, and when he found nothing to convince him to the contrary he returned to his work. Later Archie Chemberlain left the store about 10 o'clock after locking all doors and windows,

It is now evident that the window was broken at that time and that the thleves, hearing the grind stone was being used, left to return later.

Both the police department and the sheriff's office have been informed and furnished with descriptions of the rings taken.
